

CHECK-UP

“Ultrasound” (Women’s)

- Do you often feel tired for no apparent reason?
- Are you concerned about your women's health but keep putting off getting checked?

A comprehensive check-up is not just a medical examination — it's an investment in your health today to help prevent problems in the future.

We've put together a comprehensive set of examinations to help you feel confident about your health.

Who is this Check-UP recommended for?

- Women with irregular menstrual cycles
- Women planning a pregnancy or using hormonal contraceptives
- Women over 30 – for early detection of age-related changes
- Women experiencing chronic fatigue, sudden mood changes, or weight gain
- Women with thyroid, kidney, or gastrointestinal conditions
- Women who have not had an ultrasound or visited a gynecologist for a long time

What is included in the Check-UP?

Instrumental diagnostics

Medical examination based on the diagnostic results

Conclusion and personalized recommendations

Gynecologist/Therapist consultation

Specialist consultation – specialist examination, review of medical history, assessment of symptoms, and recommendations.

Determining the necessary diagnostics – selection of additional laboratory tests based on the patient's individual needs.

Questions and recommendations – personalized recommendations based on the examination results.

Ultrasound diagnostics

- Pelvic ultrasound (OMT) – assessment of the uterus, ovaries, and endometrium; particularly relevant for menstrual irregularities and pregnancy planning.
- Breast ultrasound – early detection of fibrocystic changes, cysts, and masses, supporting women's health monitoring.
- Thyroid ultrasound – detection of nodules, inflammatory changes, and structural abnormalities that may be associated with hormonal disorders and overall well-being.
- Abdominal and kidney ultrasound – assessment of the liver, pancreas, gallbladder, spleen, and kidneys.
- Bladder ultrasound – assessment of the bladder and detection of inflammatory changes or abnormalities affecting urination.

Why choose this Check-UP?

- ✓ All essential ultrasound examinations in one day – without queues or unnecessary waiting.
- ✓ Detailed review of the results with a doctor – no confusion, so you know exactly what to do next.
- ✓ Helps detect potential health issues at an early stage – without unnecessary complex and costly tests.
- ✓ An ideal option for women who care about their health and want to complete a preventive examination quickly and efficiently.

Women's health is confidence, inner strength, and harmony every day.
